

How the volume of air in a syringe changes with increasing pressure

volume, $V [m^3]$

I predict that, the volume of air is proportional to the inverse of the increasing pressure.

